The Five Behaviors And Your Team

Remember, the five behaviors can be relatively interrelated or have distinct issues that are more specific. Start by identifying the most problematic behavior, and engaging your own efforts to the success of a team. Consider the following connection:

LOW 2.0-2.4
MEDIUM 2.5-2.9
HIGH 3.0-3.5

RESULTS 2.3
ACCOUNTABILITY 2.3
COMMITMENT 2.5
CONFLICT 2.0
TRUST 3.1

Summary of Your Team's Survey Results

Your assessment score indicates that trust and commitment are likely areas of low accountability, conflict, and results are consistently areas for improvement.

Building Trust

The trust and functional behavior of a behavior has been tested. Unfortunately, the word trust often does not mean the same thing to everyone. The definition has not changed and people's behavior based on past experience is standard association, habit, or the context of the situation.

1. A colleague is to completely collaborate with one another.
2. Colleagues among team members that their own interests are good and that the protection or control around the team.

Trust will be the result of a trusting, consistent team. You make how often scores on the survey change with trust because there is no quality or characteristic that is more important to the team.

Team Survey Results

The following table reflects the team's responses to the trust-related questions from the right side of the survey and the team's average score on the four-point scale. The basis and distribution of responses within the team.

Common Distractions

What is needed to focus on results?

Teams have difficulty staying focused on results because of self-interest and self-protection. As part of the assessment, you and your team members had an opportunity to identify possible distractions from results to the people on your team. The number of people out of 10 who selected each distraction appears next to the corresponding bar chart. Note: You had the option to select all that apply.

Some distractions that keep us from focusing on results are:

Lack of shared interests	8 people
Lack of time and energy	8 people
Inconsistent processes and structure	8 people
Vague or shifting goals	8 people
More emphasis on personal goals than team goals	8 people
Impatience or career status or progression	1 person

Publics of Discussion

- The results of the survey indicate that a distraction for your team is "Lack of shared interests." What level of influence (directly or indirectly) does your team have in solving it?
- In the survey above, you have identified the lack of time and energy as a major distraction. Are there currently members on your team who are responsible for this distraction? (Select all that apply) (You may select more than one if it is relevant) What are the consequences of missing a deadline?
